Recent Operations

By Paul Rardin

Last week in this newspaper we carried a front page editorial entitled "Stop This Butchery," which had a great deal to say about the improper way in which automobiles are operated on the highways around Lake Okeechobee. Since last Friday we have had dozens of people come to me by up-to-date editorial, "Butcher doesn't correct the situation. It is going to take concerted action on the part of law enforcement officials.

Cars with improper lights seem to be the biggest menace in this area. Dozens and dozens of cars driven into this area by workers who have come to work in the everglades have been snuffed out at night with IMPROPER LIGHTS. I know you know that something can and must be done about this condition. There is no sense in taking chances with human life. Every car owner must make to correct the improper lighting conditions or else many more lives will be snuffed out as a result.

A prostate body—covered with blood—mangled torn limbs from limb—is no pretty sight along our highways. And especially when only a few cents spent by the owners of the offending cars could have prevented such carnage. Automobiles parked in improper places after night with NO LIGHTS constitute a menace that goes a long way toward snuffing out lives in our area. This MUST be stopped.

A few arrests for improperly lighted cars on our highways will tend to cut down on the number of accidents. And the greater the number of automobile wrecks that this section is experiencing—and the major portion of them because the drivers of a few cars are uninterested in the welfare of other motorists.

A few stiff fines for offending drivers. The word will soon get around to other drivers. Then automatically find that the number of accidents will drop. Let's do something to slow down this butchery and slaughter. Let's do something to protect the care less motorist from his own recklessness. It is our duty.

You could stand at the door of the Everglades Memorial hospital in Pahokee and see first hand some of the victims of auto accidents—their bodies mangled and broken. We are the first to join in this campaign to curb accidents. If you could see nurses and doctors working over a broken body—making every effort to piece it back together again—your heart would keep a fluttering heart on the job—then you would join with me in seeking some solution to this ever-increasing problem.

Just as long as the victim of a reckless driving accident is a stranger to you—oh, well, maybe you aren't interested. But, some day—and maybe tomorrow, a victim of this kind of butchery and slaughter may be one near and dear to you. Then, you'll take a determined stand to rid the highway around Lake Okeechobee of the care less driver, the one who operates his car with no lights—the one who has mangled, maimed and killed—right—then, you'll join me in saying that something must be done to bring about an end to this unnecessary killing.

School's Christmas
Vacation Starts Dec. 21

Action by the county school board Tuesday afternoon gave Palm Beach county one more day of vacation in their two-week Christmas and New Year's holiday. The vacation will start Dec. 21 and continue to Tuesday, January 3, instead of January 2 because the latter date will be observed as an official holiday, the school board decided.

Pahokee's impressive record this year shows 209 cotton bales, by the local mill, 20 pounds by their opposition in ten games played to date.

Stock Specialist Views Braddock's Beef Cattle Herd

By Paul Rardin

250 Head of Excellent Cattle Grazing On Torry Island

Further intensifying the general program for the large scale introduction of livestock into the Everglades region, W. T. Nettles, district agricultural agent, and Shadrack Williams, livestock specialist with the state extension service, made an inspection tour Wednesday afternoon of the livestock production, the Everglades Experiment Station near Belle Glade, and the farm of Fred Braddock in Chosen. The two agents came to this section after a brief inspection of cattle production areas on the coast.

County Agent U. S. Morris accompanied the two officials on their visit. Braddock's farm, recently stocked, is the largest herd of kind in the county with approximately 250 head of beef cattle.

The Everglades Experiment Station has been conducting its regular yearly test-feeding operations under the supervision of R. W. Kidder, Belle Glade.

The station completed the first of three test-feeding trials this week.

Braddock's livestock operations were started three years ago and represent the first large-scale promotion of livestock operations in this area since 1923. The herd consists of several high grade cattle, mostly white-faced cattle. They were secured from the nearby areas of south-central Florida and are now grazing on Torry Island.

Braddock's livestock operations will be in the Florida-Canal Point area for the next three years.

General J. L. Schley, chief of United States Army engineers will make an inspection tour of all navigation and flood control projects in Florida between December 9 and December 19. This information was received this week by Ben Herr, chief engineer of the Okeechobee Flood Control district.

General Schley and his party will be in the Florida-Canal Point area for the next three years.

On Friday, General Schley and his party will proceed down Intracoastal Waterway aboard the boat "Belle Glade" and be scheduled to stop in West Palm Beach for an inspection of the Lake Worth Inlet December 12.

From Miami they will return to Stuart on December 14 and board another engineer boat, the "Faro" for a second inspection trip.

Florida is the way of the St. Lucie Canal, Lake Okeechobee and the Caloosahatchee River. Two days ago, the two engineers were enroute to the Everglades.

Other members of the expedition include L. C. Hush and Kid Baggett, dredge experts; George Gill, G. E. Bryant, superintendent of the Azucar sugar school.

Others included are John D. Moore, Jr., Pierces round-round, Alfred L. Baggett, F. L. Pierce, and Kid Allen, Sand Cut, draw, Billy Lowe and Johnny Cane, taught to three boys, and Doyle Doyle, Canoe pointed Jack Tidwell in a three-round-cut.

In the semi-final event, B. Elliott, well-known Pahokee automobile dealer, fought John Pickett, F. L. Pierce, and Kid Allen, Sand Cut, draw, Billy Lowe and Johnny Cane, taught to three boys, and Doyle Doyle, Canoe pointed Jack Tidwell in a three-round-cut.

With the close of the foot ball season many friends and supporters of the Pahokee school football team will be at the game.

On Saturday, Dec. 10, the game will be at the Pahokee

High School.

John Jackson, 30, of New Port Richey and a woman companion, Miss Long of Wauchula, died as a result of an automobile accident on Conner's highway, five miles west of Pahokee, early this morning. Jackson was killed immediately and Miss Long died Wednesday morning from injuries received.

John Jackson was killed when his car crashed head-on into a truck driven by Shelly Armstrong of Belle Glade. Armstrong was accompanied by his brother, G. L. Armstrong.

Although there were no eyewitnesses to the accident, the Armstrong brothers maintained that Jackson was driving on the wrong side of the roadway and the driver of the truck was unable to swerve to the other side in time to avoid the head-on crash.

Hobsonmen Play Sarasota Tonight

The Pahokee Blue Devil power-house, winners of the Palm Beach county championship, will go to Sarasota tonight to play in a football game. The Pahokee team, following a week end rest after the Palm Beach fray, entered into a series of stiff practice sessions under the direction of Coach Orville Hobson. Hobson will take a large crew of regulars and reserves to Sarasota for the game, proceeds from which will go to the Sarasota Blue Devil club in benefit of underprivileged children.

Blue Devil supporters will accompany the team to the west coast stop in St. Louis.

Fahokee's impressive record this year shows 209 cotton bales, by the local mill, 20 pounds by their opposition in ten games played to date.

The man who is always blowing his own horn usually hasn't very much of an ear for music.

PAHOKEE LEGION THANKS PATRONS

The Pahokee American Legion post wishes to thank the many patrons who attended the electrical transcription dances after the foot ball games during the fall. The patronage aided the Legion in having the Blue Devils as their team which turn were hosts to visiting teams.

With the approval of the patronage the American Legion will carry on in a similar manner during the basket ball season and a dance will be held each Friday night with basket ball players as guests of the Legion.

A SUGGESTION

It isn't too early to talk of things regarding the Yuletide, for along with the time comes agencies, mostly children, letting you know the number of shopping days left! We are not trying to tell any man or woman their business or to suggest how they spend their money, but we know of a way they can add to their own happiness and state of mind by showing them where to spend, we are not going to pass up the opportunity. In case you want to suggest something before you are tempted to answer mail-order ads that offer something attractive for Christmas, before you drive to a nearby city to buy gifts, first visit your store - meet the men, see what they have to offer, see if you can't get it in stock, let them order it for you. You can usually find what you want in your own stores, and you are doing your duty as a citizen and fulfilling a desire of the public. And there is a better way of making your Christmas happier than buying at home and giving the local merchants the patronage and respect due them - you name it!

By Russell Kay.

At the invitation of President Harold Cole of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, we are my privilege to serve as your special correspondent aboard "The Florida Idea," a Spec ship which brought to us the most distinguished groups ever to tour Florida.

Leaving Washington last Thursday, this 16 car special train carried Senators and Congressmen, state governors, state and national government officials, financiers, industrial leaders and big business executives.

Invited by the Florida State Chamber of Commerce to visit the state and return first hand information and personal contact and observation of its amazing resources and opportunities, this group of notables arrived in Jacksonville last Friday where they were entertained at a dinner given by the chamber of commerce.

Following the dinner, the party, including such outstanding figures as Bennett Champ Clark, Sol Bloom, James M. Mead, Ross F. Wagner, and others, many of whom had never even visited the state, gained an insight into the great beauty of the "Magic City"—which included dinners, banquets, sightseeing tours, golf, tennis and other entertainment.

Traveling down the entire length of the east coast, they arrived in Miami Saturday morning and for a two-day period remained in the "City of Sunshine" the "Magic City"—which included dinners, banquets, sightseeing tours, golf, tennis and other entertainment.

Swinging back up state again Sunday morning, our group headed north to the heart of the Everglades, and were driven by motor bus from Port Mayaca to Clewiston, through miles of the rich Glades trucking area and to the great cane growing sections of the Everglades.

Arriving at Okeechobee, the visitors were welcomed by the officials of the United States Sugar corporation, they witnessed cane harvesting operations, visited the sugar house and banqueted at the new Clewiston Inn where they spent the night.

So great was the enthusiasm shown by the gay colorful playground area of Greater Miami and the busy bustling agricultural and industrial section of Lake Okeechobee that the visitors were deeply impressed with the resources and possibilities presented.

Very few of these folks knew of Florida as anything but a winter playground, and little was known about agriculture and development, agriculture to them. Equally impressive was the entry into the highland lake section and inspection of groves and packing houses which made quite a stop at Lake Wales.

Arriving at Tampa Tuesday evening, they were guests of the Chamber of Commerce at another banquet and the following morning were entertained visiting the shipyards, and other industrial activities, to acquaint themselves with the state's great west coast metropolis.

Leaving Tampa, they journeyed to Lakeland for a brief stop to inspect the new state fair grounds.

Then on to Orlando to see with their own eyes the beauty and charm of interior Florida.

The Florida State Chamber of Commerce has done a masterful job in bringing these representative folks to the state and the benefits to be gained will be felt in many ways.

The twenty-one U. S. senators and congressmen, all fully acquainted with the industrial and commercial activities of "Gateway City." Stopping briefly at St. Augustine, they visited the old fort, the Florida Yeoman Guard, the Ostrich Farm and other points of interest.

Editorial News:

Your very timely editorial calling attention to the slaughter on the highways should serve a useful purpose in awakening people to the needless and useless manner in which public highways are "mis-used" by a certain class of motorists and the awful penalties which such carelessness creates. It would be great if people would realize the gravity of the situation. I could as easily happen here as there. If there is little or no regard for human life, it would seem that dangers of great financial loss would prevail. I am sure every overloading of motor vehicles should be invoked by the law.

Observers who saw Runyon's customary "dead pan" shattered by a great many times during the preview of the film inquired the reason for such outbursts of uncontrollable hilarity.

Discomfited at having been caught in such a disgraceful exhibition, all Runyon would say was it must have been something I wrote.

The Ritzes, however, remained long-faced throughout the picture.
